Handling editor selection

Avoid selecting an editor who might have a potential conflict of interest with any of the authors, or the work presented. This includes any personal (e.g. family member), professional (e.g. co-authorship or same affiliation) or financial relationships (e.g. funding or other incentives).

Please note that should your first choice(s) not be available, other editors on the editorial board may be invited. If the assigned editor should happen to have a conflict of interest with you or your work, please contact the editorial office providing details on the situation.
